

The most powerful words list

To be used in SOP, Interview

Brevity is an art. Remember the days when we used to work on ‘one word for a sentence’ activity in our schools. There was a purpose behind it. Using the right words is the key in the field of communication. Technical skills are important but why do you think there is a whole world of business out there focussing on ‘Communication’. Alors, let us share the most emphatic words you can use to redesign your statement of purpose or interview. As these two remain the most important parts of your application to study abroad. Actually, using the right words is also important in everyday life.

Here are the key words:

Words	Attributes (Defines about you)
